How It Works

1. Your Details

Tell us about your business, your niche, and what you're currently doing for SEO and link building.

2. Strategy Call

We walk through the data you already have (or could access), and map out 2–3 linkable asset concepts with real citation potential in your niche.

3. Research & Build

Our team runs the surveys, analyzes the data, and produces a fully designed, publication-ready asset — structured for both search engines and AI indexing.

4. Links Roll In

We pitch the finished asset to relevant journalists and publishers, then monitor citations, backlinks, and AI mentions as they come in.

What You Get

Original Data Research

We design and run surveys and studies that produce citable, stat-driven findings your niche hasn't seen before — not repackaged opinion.

Journalist Outreach Included

Every linkable asset is pitched directly to relevant journalists and publications who cover your niche — you don't have to chase coverage yourself.

AI Citation Optimized

Structured with clear sourcing and clean formatting so ChatGPT, Perplexity, and Claude can surface your data when answering questions in your industry.

Compounds Over Time

Annual data refreshes keep your assets earning new backlinks and citations for years, not weeks — our assets average 4.2 years of active link earning.

Our assets have been cited by Search Engine Journal, Forbes, TechCrunch, and more — bringing sustained, high-authority backlinks to our clients.

What Happens After You Submit the Form

We know handing over your details can feel like a leap, so here's exactly what to expect: you'll hear from our team within 24 hours to schedule a strategy call. That call is a conversation, not a sales pitch — we'll ask about your niche, your existing data, and your current link profile, and give you an honest read on whether linkable asset building is a good fit before anything is signed.

Frequently Asked Questions

Is this a good fit if I've never done digital PR before?

Yes. Most of our clients haven't run original research before — that's normal. We handle the research design, data collection, and journalist outreach end-to-end, so you don't need existing PR experience.

Do I need to already have data, or can you help me find it?

Either works. If you have internal data — usage stats, customer trends, proprietary numbers — we can turn that into a citable asset. If not, we can design a survey or analyze existing public datasets from a new angle.

How long until I see results?

Based on our average across projects, most clients see media coverage or backlinks within 30 days of publication. The bigger returns build over the following 12–24 months as the asset gets picked up more widely.

What does the strategy call actually cover?

We look at your niche, your current backlink profile, and what data you have access to, then propose 2–3 specific linkable asset concepts with realistic citation potential — so you know what you're getting before committing to anything.

Is there a minimum commitment?

This depends on the scope we agree on during your strategy call — we'll walk you through pricing and commitment options directly, since it varies by niche and asset complexity.

Will my information be shared or sold?

No. Anything you submit is used only to prepare for your strategy call.
